Design your space

SPACES

To devise interior space projects it is imperative to think about the needs that arise when users live and cohabit in a place that adapts to their daily dynamics and that improves their quality of life.

When developing an interior design solution, the function, form, and activities that users will perform in the space must be clearly defined. With these ideas in mind, the choice of materials to use, the style, the colors, the furniture and the coverings will shape the identity of the space and the user experience.

To inspire this process, DURAPLAY presents in this catalog some images that illustrate the visual characteristics, the possibilities of combining and applying materials such as Duramel Sense -our line of Thermally Fused laminated panels- and Duracore veneered panels; which have been thought not only to outline projects, but also to make it possible to create enveloping, welcoming and personalized spaces that provide their users with the best experience.
